

IN THE SHADOW OF BIN LADEN

Life on the border of Pakistan & Afghanistan

A 35-minute Television Special

Produced by Einar Rustad

IN THE SHADOW OF BIN LADEN

Two years after 9/11, Osama Bin Laden was still thought to be hiding along the border of Pakistan and Afghanistan, in the famous "Tribal Zone." This documentary explores the reasons why fundamentalist Islam continues to maintain its strangle hold on the Pashtun villagers living in the Tribal Zone - the front line of the war on terrorism. It tells of the hopes and fears of the villagers stifled by fundamentalists. It's the story of the people that must continue to scratch out a life, "In the Shadow of Bin Laden." Shot entirely on location. For information about this documentary:
